- Right to Correct Inaccurate Personal Information under CCPA / CPRA (California Civil Code § 1798.106)

Under CCPA / CPRA, you have the right to request the correction of any inaccurate personal information, considering the nature of the personal information and the purposes of the processing of the personal information. III. CATEGORIES OF SOURCES OF INFORMATION WE COLLECT

We may obtain the categories of personal information listed above from one or more of the following categories of sources:

a. From You or Your Authorized Agent

We may collect information directly from you or your authorized agent. For example, when you provide us with your name and Social Security number to open an account and become a member. We also collect information indirectly from you or your authorized agent. For example, through information we collect from our members in the course of providing services to them.

b. From Our Website and Applications That You Access on Your Mobile Device

We collect certain information from your activity on our website and your use of applications on your mobile device. We may collect your IP address, device and advertising identifiers, browser type, operating system, Internet service provider (“ISP”), pages that you visit before and after visiting our website, the date and time of your visit, information about the links you click and pages you view on our website, and other standard server log information. We may also collect your mobile device’s GPS signal, or other information about nearby Wi-Fi access points and cell towers.

i. The Role of Cookies and Other Online Tracking Technologies

We, or our service providers, and other companies we work with, may deploy and use cookies, web beacons, local shared objects and other tracking technologies for various purposes, such as fraud prevention and to promote our products and services to you. Some of these tracking tools may detect characteristics or settings of the specific device you use to access our online services.

“Cookies” are small amounts of data a website can send to a visitor’s web browser. They are often stored on the device you are using to help track your areas of interest. Cookies may also enable us or our service providers and other companies we work with to relate your use of our online services over time to customize your experience. Most web browsers allow you to adjust your browser settings to decline or delete cookies, but doing so may degrade your experience with our online services.

Clear GIFs, pixel tags or web beacons—which are typically one-pixel, transparent images located on a webpage or in an email or other message—or similar technologies may be used on our sites and in some of our digital communications (such as email or other marketing messages). They may also be used when you are served advertisements, or you otherwise interact with advertisements outside of our online services. These are principally used to help recognize users, assess traffic patterns and measure site or campaign engagement.

Local Shared Objects, sometimes referred to as “flash cookies” may be stored on your hard drive using a media player or other software installed on your device. Local Shared Objects are similar to cookies in terms of their operation but may not be managed in your browser in the same way.

“First party” cookies are stored by the domain (website) you are visiting directly. They allow the website’s owner to collect analytics data, remember language settings, and perform useful functions that help provide a good experience. “Third-party” cookies are created by domains other than the one you are visiting directly, hence the name third-party. They may be used for cross-site tracking, retargeting and ad- serving. We also believe that cookies fall into the following general categories:

- Essential Cookies: These cookies are technically necessary to provide website functionality. They are a website’s basic form of memory, used to store the preferences selected by a user on a given site. As the name implies, they are essential to a website’s functionality and cannot be disabled by users. For example, an essential cookie may be used to prevent users from having to log in each time they visit a new page in the same session.

- Performance and Function Cookies: These cookies are used to enhance the performance and functionality of a website but are not essential to its use. However, without these cookies, certain functions (like videos) may become unavailable.
- Analytics and Customization Cookies: Analytics and customization cookies track user activity, so that website owners can better understand how their site is being accessed and used.
- Advertising Cookies: Advertising cookies are used to customize a user's ad experience on a website. Using the data collected from these cookies, websites can prevent the same ad from appearing repeatedly, remember user ad preferences, and tailor which ads appear based on a user's online activities.

ii. Online Advertising & Online Behavioral Advertising

You may see advertisements when you use our online services. These advertisements will be for our own products or services (including pre-screened offers of credit). Which advertisements you see on our online services is often determined using the information we or our affiliates, service providers and other companies that we work with have about you, including information about your relationships with us (e.g., types of accounts held, transactional information, location of banking activity). To that end, where permitted by applicable law, we may share with others the information we collect from and about you.

Online behavioral advertising (also known as "OBA" or "interest-based advertising") refers to the practice of collecting information from a computer or device regarding a visitor's web-browsing activities across non-affiliated websites over time in order to deliver advertisements that may be of interest to that visitor based on their browsing history. We use online behavioral advertising in compliance with data privacy laws.

Our advertising service providers may deliver our advertisements to you on non-affiliated websites. Such service providers control the manner in which the advertisements are delivered to you on such non-affiliated websites. You should generally be able to opt out of receiving such advertisements from the service provider responsible for delivering the advertisement. Please contact us if you have any difficulty doing so.

c. Third-party service providers in connection with our services or our business purposes

We collect information from third-party service providers that interact with us in connection with the services we perform or for our operational purposes. For example, a credit report we obtain from a credit bureau to evaluate a loan application. Another example is a third-party service provider that provides us information to help us detect security incidents and fraudulent activity.

d. Information we collect from third parties for a commercial purpose

We collect information from third parties for our commercial purposes. We partner with a limited number of third-party analytics and advertising firms. These third parties may use cookies or code processed by your browser to collect public information about your visits to our and other websites in order to provide customized experiences, advertisements or services. These parties may also collect information directly from you by contacting you telephonically, via email or through other communication channels. We do not disclose any information about you to such third parties except as permitted by applicable laws and regulations, and we require such third parties to follow applicable laws and regulations when they collect information from you to transfer such information to us.

IV. HOW WE USE YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION

We may use or disclose personal information we collect for one or more of the following business purposes:

- To fulfill or meet the reason for which the information is provided. For example, you apply for a loan, and we use the information in your loan application to give you the loan.
- To provide you with information, products or services that you request from us.
- To evaluate your candidacy for employment or for an independent contractor engagement, and to administer employment-related benefits for you, your spouse or domestic partner, and your dependents.
- To provide you with email alerts, event registrations or other notices concerning our products or services, or events or news, which may be of interest to you.
- To carry out our obligations and enforce our rights arising from any contracts entered into between you and us, including for billing and collections.
- To improve our website and present its contents to you.
- For testing, research, analysis to improve our products and services and for developing new ones.
- To protect the rights, property or safety of us, our employees, our members or others.
- To detect security incidents, protect against malicious, deceptive, fraudulent, or illegal activity, and prosecuting those responsible for that activity.
- To respond to law enforcement requests and as required by applicable law, court order, or governmental regulations.
- As described to you when collecting your personal information.
- To evaluate or conduct a merger, divestiture, restructuring, reorganization, dissolution or other sale or transfer of some or all of our assets, in which personal information held by us is among the assets transferred.

V. SHARING PERSONAL INFORMATION

We may disclose your personal information to third parties for our business purposes. The general categories of third parties with whom we share personal information are as follows:

1. Our third-party service providers;
2. Our affiliated websites and businesses in an effort to bring you improved service across our family of products and services, when permissible under relevant laws and regulations
3. Other companies to bring you co-branded services, products or programs;
4. Third parties that help us advertise products, services or membership with us to you;
5. Third parties to whom you or your agents authorize us to disclose your personal information in connection with products or services we provide to you;
6. Third parties or affiliates in connection with a corporate transaction, such as a sale, consolidation or merger of our financial institution or affiliated business; and
7. Other third parties to comply with legal requirements such as the demands of applicable subpoenas and court orders; to verify or enforce our terms of use, our other rights, or other applicable policies; to address fraud, security or technical issues; to respond to an emergency; or otherwise, to protect the rights, property or security of our customers or third parties.

In the disclosure table below, letters correspond to the categories of personal information listed in Section II, and numbers correspond to the categories of third parties listed in Section V.

In the preceding 12 months, we have disclosed the following categories of personal information for a business purpose and, for each category, the following categories of third parties with whom such personal information was shared:

We do not have actual knowledge of selling personal information of minors under 16 years of age.

VII. RETENTION

We retain personal information and sensitive personal information only for as long as reasonably necessary and proportionate to fulfill the business or commercial purposes for which the information was collected, including to provide requested products and services, maintain and service accounts, comply with legal, regulatory, tax, accounting, record retention, and reporting obligations, respond to law enforcement requests, resolve disputes, enforce our agreements, detect and prevent fraud, maintain security and integrity, and protect the rights, property, and safety of the Credit Union, our members, and others. Because retention periods vary depending on the category of information and the purpose for which it was collected, we determine the applicable retention period based on the nature and sensitivity of the information, the operational need for the information, applicable statutes of limitation, legal and regulatory requirements, and whether the information is subject to an investigation, litigation hold, or other legal preservation obligation.

VIII. FUTURE-STATE NOTICE REGARDING AUTOMATED DECISIONMAKING TECHNOLOGY

Effective January 1, 2027. To the extent required by applicable California law, if the Credit Union uses automated decision-making technology to make, or substantially assist in making, a significant decision concerning a consumer, we will provide any notices, access rights, and opt-out rights required by law at or before the time such technology is used. This future-state notice is intended to address evolving California requirements relating to automated decision-making technology and will apply only if, and to the extent that, the Credit Union engages in covered processing activities subject to those requirements.

For purposes of this section, a significant decision may include a decision relating to financial or lending services, housing, education enrollment or opportunities, employment or independent contracting opportunities or compensation, healthcare services, or other decisions identified by applicable law. Where required, the Credit Union will provide consumers with information regarding the use of such technology, including a description of the role of the technology in the decision-making process, the categories of personal information processed, how to exercise any available rights, and how to request additional information or review, as required by law. Nothing in this section shall be construed as an admission that the Credit Union currently uses automated decision-making technology in a manner that triggers these requirements.

IX. RIGHTS AND CHOICES FOR CALIFORNIA RESIDENTS

If you are a California resident, this section describes your rights and choices regarding how we collect, share, use, and protect your personal information, how to exercise those rights, and limits and exceptions to your rights and choices under the CCPA.

a. Exceptions

In the following instances, the rights and choices in this Section IX do not apply to you:

- If you are not a California resident.
- If we collected personal information covered by certain financial sector-specific privacy laws, including the Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA), the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act (GLBA) or California Financial Information Privacy Act (FIPA), and the Driver's Privacy Protection Act of 1994. How we collect, share, use and protect your personal information covered under the GLBA, FIPA, or is covered under our Federal GLBA Privacy Policy and/or our California notice, Important Privacy Choices for Consumers.
- Aggregate consumer information.
- Deidentified personal information.
- Publicly available information.

b. Access to Specific Information and Data Portability Rights

You have the right to request that we delete any of your personal information that we collect from you and retain, subject to certain exceptions. Once we receive and verify your request, we will delete (and direct our service providers to delete) your personal information from our records, unless an exception applies. We may deny your deletion request if retaining the information is necessary for us or our service providers to:

1. Complete the transaction for which we collected the personal information, provide a good or service that you requested, take actions reasonably anticipated within the context of our ongoing business relationship with you, or otherwise perform our contract with you.
2. Detect security incidents, protect against malicious, deceptive, fraudulent, or illegal activity; or prosecute those responsible for that activity.

To exercise the access, data portability, and deletion rights described above, a consumer or a consumer’s authorized agent may submit a verifiable consumer request to us by either:

- Calling us at 800.477.2890
- Online www.OceanAir.org/privacy
- Visiting one of our branch locations

In order to verify your identity, we may require that you provide government issued identification or other identity documentation or answer identity authentication questions.

You may only make a verifiable consumer request for access or data portability twice within a 12-month period.

We cannot respond to your request or provide you with personal information if we cannot verify your identity or authority to make the request and confirm the personal information relates to you. Making a verifiable consumer request does not require you to create an account with us. We will only use personal information provided in a verifiable consumer request to verify the requestor’s identity or authority to make the request.

An authorized agent is any person or legal entity registered with the California Secretary of State that you have authorized to act on your behalf. If we receive a request through your authorized agent, we may require:

1. Submission of a written document signed by you with your permission for the authorized agent to submit a verifiable request on your behalf and require the authorized agent to verify its own identity to us; or

2. You to directly verify with us that you have provided the authorized agent to submit the request.
3. We will not require either of the above if your authorized agent provides a copy of a power of attorney pursuant to California Probate Code sections 4000 to 4465 and we are able to verify authorized agent's identity.

We will deny a request from an agent that does not submit proof that they have been authorized by you to act on your behalf and cannot verify their own identity to us.

e. Response Timing and Format

We will do our best to respond to a verifiable consumer request within 45 days of receipt. If we require more time, up to 90 days total, we will inform you of the reason and extension period in writing. We may provide notification by mail, email, or online response portal.

Any disclosures we provide will only cover the 12-month period preceding the verifiable consumer request's receipt. The response we provide will also explain the reasons we cannot comply with a request, if applicable. For data portability requests, we will select a format to provide your personal information that is readily useable and should allow you to transmit the information from one entity to another entity without hindrance.

We do not charge a fee to process or respond to your verifiable consumer request.

f. Right of Non-Discrimination

We will not discriminate against you for exercising any of your rights in this Privacy Policy and under applicable laws. Unless permitted by law, we will not:

The current version bears the date that the Privacy Policy was last updated.
